Great views though

"Blasted Church" Winery
Name stems from a church moved from a deserted mining camp in 1929 to its present location in Okanagan Falls - by setting off 4 sticks of dynamite in the church to "loosen the nails" to make dismantling easier - they only lost the steeple

"Dirty Laundry" Winery - name stemming from local folklore during the building of the railway (about a laundry that offered entertainment while men waited for their laundry
- including a brothel)

This is what Sue wishes her smoke bush looked like

Hawthorne Mtn Winery with the "See ya later" label (We liked the Pinot Gris)
